🦋 I really, really enjoyed reading your preview book last night and I can hardly wait until it's in print. Thank you so much for sharing it with me. Congratulations on a job well done. I am very excited to read this inspiring book as I believe it will be spiritually aligned with the work I am doing. Connie, Your writing style is clear and concise and captures the essence of each woman that you wrote about. The inspirational quotes/life lessons are succinct and powerful.

🦋 I started reading your book and first of all, it's fabulous! What a great concept to compile all of these inspirational women and their stories, and tie it all back to God. Beautiful. Inspirational. Moving. I believe your book will be as successful as the women you write about. Lisa

🦋 I just finished reading your book preview and I was quite fascinated with the fact that those stories were real life events. I can relate myself to some of them and I know that our God is a loving God who will never leave our side, especially in difficult situations like the ones in your book. God bless your beautiful soul and such wonderful work you are doing. He is indeed a loving God who works in mysterious ways. Vaisala

🦋 Speaks VOLUMES to my soul! Looking forward to reading it.

🦋 I wanted to thank you for sharing the preview copy of the book with me. I was honored and wish I could have written a full review on the book, but I am really looking forward to reading it in it's entirety. I could not help but cry hearing their stories, if only the world could understand the impact and damage caused by such abuses. I love that you took on this task and will be sharing it with the world. Otis

🦋 I read the preview and totally loved it. It's well-thought out and beautifully written. I especially like the positive message at the end of each chapter. Thanks for sharing. Cheryl

More Praise for God Gave Us Wings

Women and men are getting inspiration from just a quick preview of the courageous women who tell their stories in God Gave Us Wings.

🦋 I just finished reading your preview. Chapter 1 was amazing. You were able to condense Oprah's preview to just 4 pages without the reader feeling that you left anything out. That's an amazing feat. I'm a huge fan of Oprah and you paid homage magnificently. Chapter 2 - Lilly - Left me breathless. Literally. I had to remind myself to breathe. I had to remind myself that this story has a happy ending and so I was able to keep reading. Chapter 3 - This chapter left me intrigued. How does a girl go from contemplating suicide to changing thousands of lives? I got to the end of Chapter 3 thinking "I want more!" Chapter 4 - Keo's story hit close to home for me. My cousin married a beautiful Vietnamese woman and they escaped Vietnam as well and spent 2 years in a refugee camp. Your hard numbers such as "half a million people drowned crossing the Mekong River" makes this story not only credible but heart wrenching. You've managed to add the perfect number of facts without overwhelming the reader (me). At the end of the chapter, I found Keo's thoughts on success to be very moving. Chapter 5 - Connie's story really caused me to think that successful people might be wired differently. What is it in someone that makes them "get up after they fall down again" again and again? I didn't realize that each chapter will come with a worksheet. That's brilliant. Book clubs are going to eat this up. Thank you for sharing the preview with me. I feel very blessed. I can't wait to read the finished product. Nina

🦋 I was truly inspired by your book. It's amazing ... just remarkable. I'm currently writing a book for empowerment I almost quit today until I had that read. It just pushed me to continue. Oneil

🦋 Africa's women should applaud your great work. They need all the inspiration they can get. snouxposwa

🦋 Thank You for connecting! Your book seems highly inspiring! Stephanie

🦋 I'm excited to read this book. God brings things into our lives when we need them. It's funny because I wrote a song called How Can I Fly. This reminded me of it. Robin

🦋 Connie, this is awesome! and is probably one of many letters you will receive in the years to come! So proud of you and the difference your book is already making! Chris

🦋 Connie, The book preview itself was very inspirational! Especially the chapter on Oprah! Yuna

🦋 Thanks so very much! In one word, Wow!. When you started with Ms. Oprah, I expected to see just the rich, famous, influential. What follows, extraordinary stories of 'ordinary' women who decided that God gave them wings and that nobody or circumstance could prevent them from flying and achieving all that God had in store for them. Great work Connie. I'll be waiting for the finished work/book. James

🦋 Truly amazing book you have. Divinely close and a pleasure to read. Thank you. Nancy

🦋 As I enter a new season in my life following my second breast cancer and on the cusp of a divorce, I am starting my life over as an empty nester at 48 having had a radical mastectomy and hysterectomy in the last year. I'm looking forward to reading the story of these amazing women. I follow you on Twitter, thank you for the updates. Elecia
